Letter to the BAT-CAVE

Dear Editors:

Could you give me a description of the BAT-CAVE? Also, I was wondering if you ever, besides BATMAN and ROBIN, and SUPERMAN, have the BAT-CAVE location?

Stephen Thomas, Gary, Ind.

(The BAT-CAVE houses the BATMOBILE and the BAT PLANE, in addition to a library BATMAN and ROBIN have that contains their crime detection literature and their list of targets, where they keep a collection of past cases. Only ALIEN, Steve Noyes's twisted brother, knows how to get in and out of the BAT-CAVE. —B.L.)

• • •

Dear Editors:

I got a great look out of "THE CREATURE FROM PLANET 13", which appeared in the August issue of DETECTIVE COMICS. Are you planning any more stories in which BATMAN and ROBIN have to fight an alien being?

Randy Price, Nevada, N. J.

Could he bring just back a story in the October issue of DETECTIVE COMICS. He, who BATMAN and ROBIN are faced with "THE MURDER OF THE CRYSTAL CREATURE" —B.L.)

• • •

Dear Editors:

How come BATMAN and ROBIN take orders from Commissioner Gordon? Being such great crimefighters, wouldn't they be better off directly on their own?

Art Walker, Richmond, Va.

BATMAN and ROBIN don't actually "take orders" from the Police Commissioner. As equals officers, however. They do not believe in taking the law into their own hands. By negotiating and working hand-in-hand with the police, they are able to do a much more efficient job of fighting crime and capturing criminals. —B.L.)

Dear Editors:

Doesn't ROBIN have to go to school? If not, how does he get his education?

Edie Green, Springfield, Ill.

ROBIN actually does go to school. In his everyday identity of Dick Grayson. As a member of his, BATMAN wouldn't take ROBIN along with him on a case of "The Flying Wonder" but turned to his studies to help maintain good grades. —B.L.)

• • •

Dear Editors:

I know that BATMAN, ROBIN and SUPERMAN are the best of friends, and always work together as a perfect team. But they are right one another, or have any real of understanding?

Michael Miller, Tappan, Wash.

[There have been great difficulties in which BATMAN and SUPERMAN were forced to work at odds with each other until a point; he professes to realize that such a problem develops in the next issue of WORLD'S FINEST COMICS, November, No. 185 when BATMAN and ROBIN have to solve "THE ALIEN SUPERMAN" —B.L.]

• • •

Dear Editors:

One of the weapons in BATMAN'S UTILITY BELT is a sleeping gas pellet that he sometimes uses against criminals. What chemicals are used in these pellets? Aren't they dangerous to man, especially when industrial byproducts are present?

Baron Lloyd, Nevada, Nev.

Actually all of BATMAN'S chemical weapons are devised by BATMAN and ROBIN themselves in the secret laboratory of the BAT-CAVE. They consist of gases known known only to the crime-fighting twins, and are not used until BATMAN is certain that right efforts are only temporary and that they are possibly harmful to the victim only. —B.L.)
